Purpose of clearing

Emergency remedial works are required at the failed northern breakwater at The Cut ahead of winter storms. Works are aimed at reinstating the breakwater such that eroded sediment from the adjacent beach does not continue to wash or blow into the channel. Attached photos show a small area of beach to be used as a temporary stockpile area and or beach access prior to rock placement on the breakwater. If the emergency works are not undertaken this area of vegetation is likely to be washed away during the winter with progressive beach retreat and erosion anticipated.
